

SCA ON THE MOVE

As the voice of the construction industry across the province, the SCA continues to focus its attention on the key issues facing our industry:

- government lobbying and advocacy to further our collective interests;
- providing leading edge human resources services designed to help attract youth into the construction trades and assisting member companies meet their human resource needs;
- providing great member services like our Membership Roster and our annual Elk Ridge Summer Meeting.

Focusing on these three services has allowed the SCA to grow in prominence and position the association as the leading voice for our members. The SCA continues to provide great value to its members.

The SCA Board of Directors believes it's now time to take the next step in the evolution of our association. Next month, the SCA will move to a new location. This relocation will help move our association and our industry forward.

This positive step will help the SCA provide better services and support to our member companies.

Our new offices will be located at:

320 Gardiner Park Court
Regina, SK

Our phone and fax number will remain the same.

The SCA will be relocated in its new office by mid-September, 2011.
